

Belle Glade's Growing Consider The Garbage!

The signing of a five-year contract for the collection of the City's garbage for a first year's price of $86,500, of the balance up to be down depending on the number and tonnage of customers and tonnage collected.

Quality of garbage is not in question?

However, the city will collect its own trash, which was contracted to be done by the Sanitation company in '65.

Evidence of the growth of the city's steadily increasing cost of garbage since '60, as follows:

In '60 — $49,437 for capital investment — $495.00.

In '61 — $50,934, for Capital investment $1066.00.

In '62 — $55,170.00 for capital investment — $100.00.

In '63 — $62,361.00 for capital investment — $6860.00.

In '64 — $72,734.00 for capital investment — $100.00.

In '65, the contract was for $86,500, including the trash collection, which the figures above included.

We're growing, and we're accumulating more garbage, or it's costing us much more to rid ourselves of what we have.

It'll be interesting to study the figures, five years from now with comparison of the cost of doing the collecting ourselves (the City), against a contracted price.

Belle Glade American Legion offers dancing at the Legion Hall to the 5-piece band, the Iguana's, from West Palm Beach.

Phone Bills Will Be Less Next Year

Your monthly tab for phone service will not be as much in the new year, thanks to the reduction in excise tax on this service. The reduction is the result of the excise revision law signed this past summer by President Johnson.

This law reduces — and eventually will eliminate — the federal excise tax on all local and long distance telephone service.

The first and biggest portion of the reduction — one out from 10 to 3 per cent — is the one effective January 1. An additional one percent will be removed each January thereafter until the tax is eliminated in 1969.

According to Charlie Leonard, local manager of the Phone Company, the next telephone bills received in this area will reflect this reduction. You, the customer, will receive the total benefit of the reduction.

Fourth Book By L. E. Will Just Released

"Catfish all you can eat — catfish are delicious — homefries drive extra miles to eat where catfish is specialty — but in today's rush, few give thought to the fact that only 50 short years ago catfishing in Lake Okechobee was THE industry and livelihood for all who lived here.

Lush fields of vegetables, sugarcane, cattle and sod are taken for granted by most who form the constant flow of traffic in our modern, busy area.

J. D. Goggans Sales Manager For Wedgworths

The appointment of J. D. Goggans as sales manager of Wedgworth Produce, Inc. to fill the vacancy created by the untimely death of Harold O. Brunson, was announced by Mrs. Ruth Wedgworth.

"We are fortunate," Mrs. Wedgworth said, "to have a qualified man to take over. J. D. is a local boy, and has worked up with our company since taking a platform job in 1956."

A graduate of Belle Glade High School and the University of Miami, Goggans lives with his wife Wanda Jane, and one son, Gary, 13, at 232 NW 14th Street.

He is the son of Mrs. N. D. Lloyd of Belle Glade.

Growing Weather Good At Present

It has been almost perfect growing weather this year said Harold Rabin, Belle Glade Sales Manager for Choate Farms.

As a result, the season looks good at the present. In celery, he said, there has been heavier plantings, heavier shipments and prices have been a little higher than last year's prices. This improvement could hold for the next 90 days, Rabin said due to crop damage in California.

Sweet corn is being produced only in Florida now, and there are heavier acreage and larger shipments than last year. The market should remain steady.

Rain in October brought disaster for the east coast bean growers, resulting in the best bean season in 15 or 20 years, up to now, in the Glades, Rabin reported.

Leafy crop is generally heavier this year with heavier shipments out of state, good quality and lower prices, he said.

By this time last year, August and October hurricanes had already damaged Glades crops. Ahead were two damaging frosts, that in January 18, one of the coldest years on record, and February 27.

Rotarians And College Guests Hear Of "Mexico, Past, Present"

Rotary members and their guests, 20 college students home for the holidays, heard Ferdinand LeGrand speak on "Mexico, Its Past and Its Present" at their regular meeting Friday.

Visiting Mexico several times a year over a three year period has brought an "appreciation of Mexico and its people," said LeGrand.

First, LeGrand told "the short story of people who want to help themselves..." Cuidad Mante in 1930 was a settlement of about 1,000 farmers with a total income of $50,000 a year. Now, 35,000 inhabitants receive more than $10 million in total annual income.

This dramatic increase was spurred by government loans which provided an irrigation system, the land for growing sugarcane and a sugar mill. In 1939, after paying off the first loan, more money was borrowed and a refinery built, later a plant converting molasses to industrial alcohol was built. Two years ago non-irrigated land was put to use growing "a superior quality of cotton" and the building of "the most modern and fully automatic cotton gin in the American mainland."

Farmers and workers are not paid wages but rather share the profits. The first 10 percent of these profits are spent for "social projects, like the building and schools and hospitals."

Under this method the average annual income per family has risen from $50 to $283. This has been done without strikes or foreign aid money, LeGrand pointed out.

The talk was concluded with slides of an excavation site, Monte Alban, near Mexico City. This ancient culture which thrived from 2000 B. C. to about 400 A. D. is rich with examples of the artistic heritage of the Mexican people.

Cattle Sales Up in The Glades for 1965

Improvement in the sales market for 1965 reflect the re-establishment of cattle in the Glades.

1965 showed an increase of 705 head over 1964 sales with a total of 23,371 head in dollars, the increase was $76,852.67 with a 1965 total of $2,045,941.31.

1955 was the peak year for the Glades cattle industry with about 80,000 acres in pasture. From 1956 to 1961 a liquidation took place bringing the acreage figure down to about 10,000.

With this reduction in numbers, the type of cattle operation in the Glades has also changed.

Last Rites Set

In Arkansas For Loacie M. Dixon

Mrs. J. Loacie Marie Dixon, 47, passed away at Glades General Hospital at 8:30 A. M. Wednesday, Dec. 29 following a brief illness.

She was a native of Cave City, Arkansas and had been making her home in Oceola Center, Belle Glade for the past four years. She was a member of the First Baptist Church in Cave City, while in the Glades she was employed by Sam Senter Sales, Inc., of Belle Glade.

Survivors include her husband, W. A. Dixon, Belle Glade; one son, James William Tracy, Kansas City, Missouri; three daughters, Mrs. Billie Deen, Saxton, Mo., Mrs. Mary Lou McLeod and Mrs. Geneva Tracy both of Belle Glade; two brothers, Turner and Sid Turner, Cave City, Arkansas; four sisters, Mrs. Alice Mobley, Mrs. Irma Smith, Mrs. E. L. Shirley and Mrs. Elsie McCracken all of Cave City.

Services will be conducted Saturday, Jan. 1 at the McGee Funeral home in Cave City, Arkansas with the Rev. J. L. Henson officiating.

Henson has scheduled a series of meetings with workers at various labor camps to explain gambling laws, especially to the off-shore workers.

George Young, former manager of the Livestock Market said,

"In 1955 there were about 75 to 100 people who owned 25 to 100 head of cattle. At the present time there are perhaps less than 15 people in this category. The price of cattle went down and the price of land went up to squeeze the small operator out of business."

The drop in cattle price was a national trend while the rising price of land was a local trend due in large measure to the rise in sugar production, Young said.

As an example of this land take over by sugar interest, Young said "In 1955 there were many thousands of cattle east of Six Mile Bend. Cattle in this area are now practically non-existent."

"The largest undeveloped acreage in the county is the area south of South Bay and west of Highway 27. This area, however, is slowly being developed into cattle with at least three new ranches of approximately 1,000 acres each."

"At the present time the outlook for the overall cattle business is better than it has been for the past ten years. This should result in a more rapid development of our unused lands," he concluded.

Changes Made

In Sheriff's Office

Acting Lt. Robert Herron has made several temporary changes under the reorganization of the Glades office of the Sheriff Department.

Deputy Bob Horn was named to an investigative post, Deputy David Day will begin plain-clothes work and Deputy Larry Marsh was promoted to acting sergeant with the road patrol.

In addition to Deputy Day another Deputy will be assigned to plain-clothes duty, Herron said.

"We are investigating the gambling activities in the Glades area and will continue to do so as long as this is an off-duty function," he continued.

Herron has scheduled a series of meetings with workers at various labor camps to explain gambling laws, especially to the off-shore workers.

Editorials

What Happened To The Dream?

Our great country was founded and grew to maturity on the efforts of strong, independent, thinking people with a bright dream of financial betterment. It was the burning ambition of most Americans to own their own business and be independent. To start out small and have the chance to grow big. To make enough during the productive years to live comfortably during retirement.

It was a thing of pride to be a skilled craftsman in a trade. Thrift was a way of life and foundation of hope for tomorrow. To owe more than you could pay or to go bankrupt was looked down on. The family was the rock of stability for all to rally around. To be on relief was for those who were really destitute.

What has happened to the great American dream? Has the creeping socialism of Big Brother robbed us of our birth right? Has the promise of cradle to grave security destroyed the burning ambition and the will to work for our rewards? Has the lure of cheap prices destroyed the pride of workmanship and the craftsman position in business?

Did thrift really die? Has it been replaced by the prestige of debt? Has it become old-fashioned to pay your debts on time? It seems that bankruptcy is a way of life now for some. Spend, spend and more spend. The more you owe the more you have.

Has the American dream of success failed? Is this what is causing the family unit to fall apart? When the head of the family has to stand in line for his cradle to grave handouts, how can the rest of the family look up to him. What respect can failure demand or expect?

Let us think the situation is still bright, look at a few facts. If you go into business for yourself today, in this era of the most powerful, prolonged peace-time upsurge in all history. What are the odds you will make it? The odds you will even survive are less than 50-50. A full 56 percent of the businesses that died last year (13,501) had lived only 5 years or less.

In the last few years the trend of business failures has been up. Not just new companies—in 1947 only 9.1 percent of businesses over 10 years of age failed. As recently as 1954 this percentage was only 15.5 percent but now it is approaching 30 percent. No business is safe. Creeping socialism can kill the old established operations just as easily as the new ones.

These numbers and percentages do not cover anything but those who go "out of business" with a loss to creditors, actually, it is estimated that between 350,000 and 400,000 are "discontinued" every year now. On every business day, Dun and Bradstreet has more than 5,000 listings in its reference book changed.

If the dream has not died, the chances of making it come true has surely diminished. No wonder it is becoming so popular for people to encourage their children and relatives to go to work for good old Uncle Sam. Big Brother gets bigger all the time. Since he has the money printing business he has few problems a little overtime on these printing presses seemingly can solve.

Only one horrible thought must keep our glorious leaders awake at night. If independent businesses keep going broke and closing up. Who will be paying the big tax load? With more and more government handouts, the demand for taxes is growing. With more and more employees, the government needs more money. Have they killed the goose that laid the golden egg?

I am not worried. I have a system all worked out. I have a business and I plan to get my wife a job with the government, train one child as a professional man, get the other one on as a social worker, help my relatives get on relief, save my money, keep my passport in order, and say my prayers every night. One of the family is bound to make it. If not we can always flee to a poor underdeveloped country and apply for American Aid.

Uncle Dan From Doobie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Ed Doobie brung up a matter at the country store Saturday night that maybe our Congressman had ought to investigate. Ed says we got to abolish either the Welfare Department or the Appalachia program. He claimed one was gitting in the way of the other so had it was blocking the highway into the Great Society.

Ed is a great feller to fetch what he calls the "evidence" and Saturday night he brung along his copy of this month's Farm Journal. The Editor of the Farm Journal had dressed up in old clothes, reported himself disemployed and got a job picking apples in the Appalachia district.

It said he was gitting housed in a $100,000 labor camp and that they was 600 disemployed supposed to report. He said the highest number to show up at any one time was 61 and, he reported, they felt about work like a snake-bit mule. He said he would report a few would quit, claimed their welfare checks was more than their pay check. Furthermore, this Editor reported, them that was working was always talking about some of their kin folks gitting more on welfare. He said he could shake more apples off'n the tree in one shake than them disemployed was picking in a hour.

Zeke Grubb was agreed with Ed, said we got to git rid of one of them projects. Personal, allow'd Zeke, he was in favor of putting a stopper in the welfare jug. He claimed that most of them that was disemployed that day was also disemployed from the desire to work for a living. He was of the opinion they wasn't much charact of them Appalachia doctors curing one disease without working on the other.

Clem Webster of the Great Society was disagreed with Ed and Zeke, claimed both was needed for all the folks in the country that was suffering from had luck.

But Ed claimed everybody living off'n the Government these days was pleading hard luck. He said he could recollect his Grandpa saying that when he lived in Georgia he had a solid run of 9 straight years of the boll weevil, the Seven Years litch, and 5 years of drought and still managed to feed his family without asking nobody for nothing. Of course, admitted Ed, his Grandpa probable thought that

Seven years litch in there fer good measure, but then was the days when Americans was too proud to beg. I reckon I'd have to go along with Ed in this matter, Mister Editor. I've had some bad luck myself, but I ain't never took no welfare handouts. I recollect once during the depression when I bought a suit with two pairs of pants and burnt the tail off'n the coat the first time I wore it.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dan

LENNOX, S. D., INDEPENDENT: "Inflation is a nasty word no matter how much sugar-coating the powers that be try to put on it. So-called recessions can, perhaps, be delayed by inflationary measures. The government can spend, for a time, more money than it takes in and in so doing keep the ball of prosperity rolling, but sooner or later the inevitable begins to show. The value of money begins to shrink at an ever-increasing tempo and before long confidence is replaced by panic. We do not believe we have yet reached the panic state, but when a $10 bill loses five cents of its value in one month, it's time to restore some fiscal sanity to the spending policies of our federal government."

Many Paths To Communism

Knowledge Is Only Defense

Famous last words of the leaders of a country about to be engulfed by communism seem to be, "There's no danger of communist conquest here. There aren't enough communists."

It is so easy to underestimate the magnitude of the communist danger by considering the number of communists as a percentage of the total population. This is particularly true in a country with democratic traditions where political power is derived through the popular vote. Since communism has never come to power by the popular vote, it is a dangerous fallacy to judge its strength by the number they can persuade to follow them. The triumphs of communism witness to the power of the organized, disciplined, and dedicated few.

This has been true from the original conquest of Russia by Lenin to the conquest of Cuba by Castro. In 1917 the population of Russia was about 160 million. Lenin was the leader of a small, fanatical, revolutionary Marxist sect called Bolsheviks. He lived in exile in Geneva, Switzerland. In February, 1917, a spontaneous revolution overthrew czarism in Russia and a provisional government was formed to prepare for free elections to establish a constitutional, democratic republic. The provisional government declared a political amnesty and by courtesy of the German high command, Lenin was transported from Switzerland to Russia. On arrival in Petrograd, now known as Leningrad, he quickly formed a small group of like-minded men and set to work. He had returned to conquer and rule Russia. At the time he made this prediction, he had approximately 17,000 communist followers.

History records that the prediction of Lenin was no idle boast produced by delusions of grandeur but an accurate description of future events. Lenin had devised a technique whereby a small minority could bend the large majority to its will. He had developed most efficient techniques for the seizure and maintenance of power. These techniques are called the science of Marxism-Leninism by communists everywhere. Since Lenin was a communist, he has proudly clothed himself in the mantle of the scientist.

Karl Marx lived when science was in the process of transforming the world. The achievements of science were plain for all to see. Science was the mistress who infused the young intellectuals of the world. The claim of Marxism to be scientific exercised a great appeal to them.

A scientist is an individual who transforms existing forces into servants. He multiplies his personal power hundreds, thousands, even millions of times by the use of existing forces. These forces have often been in existence for countless years but have remained unharmed and purposeless. In this sense the sailor was a scientist who learned to harness the wind so that he could make it drive a boat against itself. He did not create the wind. The modern aeronautical scientist has harnessed the weight of the atmosphere so that the pilot of an airplane may lift an enormous machine, weighing many tons, miles into the sky. The weight of the atmosphere has existed since the birth of the world, but it has only been scientifically harnessed by man during the past 60 years.

The communists harness what they call "social forces." These are forces which operate to establish similar impulses in large numbers of people. Any widely shared grievance, desire, or need creates a social force. Some of these forces are good and work for the well-being and happiness of mankind; some are evil and work for human destruction. To the communist it is a matter of indifference whether the force is good or evil. He must strive to harness it and use it to establish communist dictatorship.

One of the secrets of the success of Leninism is its great flexibility. It can use forces which are fundamentally opposed to the objective which the communists are seeking. It is one of the paradoxes of communist success that the force they have used most effectively to establish their power is one which is in absolute conflict with their announced objective.

In the "Communist Manifesto" Karl Marx states, "The theory of the communists may be summed up in the single sentence: abolition of Private Property." In Russia the slogan of Lenin was "Bread, peace, & Land." He offered private ownership in land to the land-hungry millions. Many Marxist critics accused him of betraying Marxism. He classified them as "static Marxists" while he claimed to be a dynamic Marxist.

To bring about the conditions advocated by Marx, it was first necessary to establish dictatorial power, therefore, any program which would enable communists to establish a dictatorship was a Marxist program. Lenin gave the peasants land in 1917 and thereby consolidated the dictatorship of the proletariat. Ten years passed before this dictatorship felt strong enough to apply a program closer to the Marxist objective. In 1928 they robbed the peasants of the land they had given them in 1917 and forced them into collective farms. The social force created by the desire to own private property had served its purpose.

Likewise in China the slogan was "own your own land." The communists recruited the support of the Chinese peasants by the promise of landownership. When they conquered an area they kept their promise. Many alleged experts, who understood the Marxist objective but not the Leninist pathway, thought they saw a contradiction between the program of distributing land and communism. They claimed that the Chinese leaders could not be communists but were Agrarian reformers. Agrarian reform is simply a way station on the path to the communists objective. The peasants of China were even less fortunate than those of Russia. They owned their land for only two or three years before the communists took it from them and forced them into collectives and communes.

Another social force the communists have used most effectively is nationalism. At the extreme form of nationalism called racism. They have skillfully exploited the desire of people for national self-determination to bring about revolution. The revolution does not aim at establishing communism but liberation. The communists then take over the "liberated" regime.

In many countries the communists are ultra-nationalistic. This is only a temporary phase as their objective is internationalism. In the Communist Manifesto, Karl Marx stated, "The working man has no country."

The social forces harnessed by the communists are legion. A few that come to mind are — peace, civil rights, poverty, prosperity, black nationalism, white nationalism, religion, hate and love. All are used for the communist aim.

The science of Marxism-Leninism reduces itself to this simple formula — find out what the majority of the people want, promise it to them, go to work to get it for them so that you may come to power over them. Thus communism presents itself to the underdog individual as the agent giving dedicated service to fulfill his dearest desire. Unless an individual is thoroughly informed concerning the true nature, methods, and objectives of communism, he is certain to be deceived and will probably cooperate with his future slave master. Thus, knowledge of the true nature of communism is the best, if not the only defense against it.

RESOLUTIONS

How much is a resolution worth? A resolution is worth nothing more than the paper it is written on. It is no longer lasting than echo of the phrase with which it is made — unless there is some intent and purpose in the making.

If you made a hundred resolutions and kept but one of them, true enough, you accomplished something. But, your batting average is rather poor. If you make one resolution, and keep it, you score high — but how difficult was the resolution? Was it a resolution to do something or not to do something? There's a difference.

Make the time, at the start of this New Year, for self evaluation. You don't have to write anything down, make any promises to yourself or to others. But recognize yourself. Be honest with yourself, as no one else can. The road to self improvement will not be with your determination to do better and to be better in the months ahead.

Be at War with your Vices,
at Peace with your Neighbours, and let every New-Year
find you a better man.

First Church Of Christ Scientist

A consideration of the nature of Deity will be the theme of this Sunday's service on "God" in all Christian Science churches throughout the world.

The sermon will consist of correlated readings from the Bible and from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science. Included will be Moses well-known injunction from Deuteronomy: "Know there fore this day, and consider in thine heart, that the Lord he is God in heaven above, and upon the earth beneath: there is none else:" And this reference from Science and Health: "The power of God bring deliverance to the captive. No power can withstand divine Love."

Where The New Year Is Born

For millions on the eastern seaboard of the United States, this is where it happens. A lighted "ball" falls from the top of a tower—and it's 1966.

But in Chicago and Winnipeg it is still 1965. In Saskatoon and Denver it is 1965. In Frisco and Vancouver it is 1965. So where in this broad continent is the New Year really born?

When it is born at all—it happens in men's own hearts! Otherwise the Old Year goes on. And older years add not their blessings but their dregs . . . as men grope for shreds of time to complete old patterns . . . remnants of hope to patch worn-out dreams.

But somewhere a heart speaks to God. In the quiet of a church sanctuary it recounts the past with its failures, its defeats. And boldly it enquires into the future with its hope and promise. That soul commits time and talent and treasure to the purposes of Jesus Christ.

And the Father of All, who is not clock-watcher but soul-watcher, turns the page of that calendar. For one soul at a time the New Year is born!

Junior (Clinton) Stockton, 36, and Buster Phillips, 35, both of Bridgeport, Texas were slightly injured Wednesday, December 23rd, in an early morning accident, as their semi-trailer truck plunged into the canal on U. S. 27 about one mile north of South Bay.

According to Fla. Highway Patrol Trooper W. B. Richardson, the northbound vehicle left the highway when the driver either dozed off or lost control of the truck. The semi landed wheels-down in the canal after leaving the highway, but not before the driver had managed to miss one telephone pole, straddle a culvert and dodge guard rails. Both men managed to get out of the cab and climb on top of the partially submerged truck. Phillips finally jumped into the cold water and made his way to the shoulder of the road about the time Patrolman Richardson arrived. Both men were taken to Glades General Hospital in Belle Glade, where they were treated for multiple bruises and released. The truckers were employed by the ATA of Texas. The trailer truck was partially loaded and required six large wreckers to remove the vehicle from the canal.

Clean Showerhead
If that shower in your bath jolts you with a stream instead of a spray, your showerhead may be clogged with mineral deposits. To regain the gentle spray, remove the showerhead face, clean the holes with needle or wire, and scrub the back surface. If the water still doesn't spray correctly, it's time to get a new showerhead.

Looks Help
Select foods that look good and taste good together when planning your breakfast menus. For instance, bright-colored strawberries, blueberries or fresh peaches look good to eat on crisp, ready-to-eat cereal.

South Bay Deputy Injured In Labor Camp Riot

Deputy James Mathis, 23, of South Bay, was injured December 23, during a raid on a card game at Pelican Lake Labor Camp in Pahokee.

Mathis was apparently struck in the back with a rock, and was admitted to a local hospital. Hospital X-rays failed to show any broken bones, but the site of the injury was above his kidney. He was released the next day.

Deputy Mathis, accompanied by several auxiliary deputies, walked into the recreation room and announced they intended to arrest the alleged gamblers.

The word spread fast and a crowd of Jamaican sugar cane cutters attacked the deputies, throwing bottles and rocks. Sheriff Martin M. Kellenberger was informed of the activities and he sped to the scene. All available deputies and Glades area auxiliaries were called to the camp, along with city police, border patrolmen and guards from the Glades Correctional institution who also brought along bloodhounds.

T. W. Reeves, the labor camp manager said there were 313 men, and a number of women and children in the camp.

Tear gas was discharged into the crowd in order to allow the deputies to retreat, but none of the camp residents were injured.

M. Y. F. Group Trim Tree, Enjoy Christmas Party

The Lake Harbor M. Y. F. gathered at the church Thursday night to trim the Christmas tree. After the tree was finished they went into the Sunday School Building for a party. Games were enjoyed for a while. Refreshments of cake and hot chocolate with marshmallows were served by Mrs. John D. Hemphill and Mrs. Marvin Lee.

We have just been notified by the Chamber of Commerce that the Post Office is the first place award for the best inside decorated Christmas tree. The postal employees, the assistant postmaster, and myself want to express our thanks and appreciation for being considered.

This is the first Christmas that our group decided to go all out for simple, but attractive decorations. We felt, and rightly, that at least we would get the pleasure of enjoying our decorations while we worked, since we were too tired after a strenuous day's work to enjoy them at home.

After the clerks and carrier approved of the suggestion to decorate, a committee was appointed for the purpose of planning, etc., and the first-place winner was the product of this committee planning. Clerks and carriers donated time for decorating, and money for the tree, trimmings and lights. We were justly proud of our "creation," and were very happy when so many of our patrons exclaimed over the tree.

You can imagine how we felt when one apparently disgruntled patron exclaimed "so this is how our tax money is spent by the government." Why, I can't even get a much needed mimeograph machine, much less a tree and decorations for Christmas.

I hope our patron enjoyed his own Christmas, however, as much as we enjoyed our tree. We are very happy that we could pour a little Christmas cheer into to the lives of so many of our appreciative patrons. We enjoyed sharing with our patrons, and we are very happy that we could do something to help beautify at such a wonderful time of year.

On behalf of our employees, I wish to take this opportunity to thank our many patrons for their cooperation in one of our most trying years at Christmas time. We appreciated their patience and their willingness to cooperate for a smooth Christmas operation.

Peace Corps To Test On January 8

Glades area residents interested in putting their skills to use in developing nations around the world are invited to take the Peace Corps placement test at 9 a. m. on Saturday, January 8 at the main post office building in West Palm Beach.

The Peace Corps uses the placement test to determine how an applicant can best be utilized overseas. The test measures general aptitude and the ability to learn a language, not education or achievement. (It test scores indicated a limited language-learning ability, for example, the Peace Corps tries to place the applicant in an English-speaking country). The placement test requires no preparation and is non-competitive — an applicant can neither pass nor fail.

The application form, not the placement test, is the most important factor in the selection of Volunteers. Persons interested in serving in the Peace Corps must fill out an application, if they have not already done so, and present it to the tester before taking the test. Applications may be obtained from local post offices or from the Peace Corps, Washington, D. C. 20525.

The placement test takes about an hour and a half. An optional achievement test for applicants who have studied French or Spanish requires another hour.

Chas. B. Lone, Jr., the local Association manager, stated that large segments of the country's population, such as city dwellers, factory workers, and the like, are not aware of the vital part which agricultural people take in adding to the basic strength of the nation.

With agriculture moving into a "challenging new era of the development for rural America and of production for the world-wide battle against hunger," it becomes increasingly necessary that the true, complete story of agricultural progress and potentials be told, he said.

Mr. Lone noted that numerous meetings, commemorative activities and special anniversary events will get underway in the coming months, leading up to the nation-wide 50th Anniversary in 1967. The 12 Federal Land Banks were established in 1917 under the Farm Loan Act.

The 50th Anniversary comes as a timely opportunity, Mr. Lone commented, to translate the accomplishments of agriculture into terms of interest for all

The Herald
Belle Glade, Florida
U. S. A.
Muy señores mios:

Ocasionalmente llega a mis manos recortes de la sección "Our Latin Neighbors" del Belle Glade Herald. Realmente los felicito por esta magnífica idea, pues se ve que la Colonia Cubana sigue prosperando en una bonita y acogedora región de los E. U.

Para nosotros leer estas noticias es una gran cosa, especialmente cuando, se ha conocido la región y cuando se tienen tantos amigos por allá. Además, por estos lugares hay muy pocos cubanos, y los pocos que hay les vemos de tarde en tarde.

Posiblemente su servidor haya sido uno de los pioneros de dicha región, además de haberla conocido en 1945, cuando tome un curso de entrenamiento en casa en la Estación del USDA en Canal Point.

En su columna del día 25 de Nov, lei muchos nombres conocidos: los Carreno, García Velez, Campa, etc., y por su columna también me enteré de la triste noticia del fallecimiento de los esposos Maldonado.

Ojala y que sigan esa bonita labor, y si algo se les ofrece de estos rincos tapáticos que solo los conocíamos en Cuba cuando ibamos a ver películas de Jorge Negrete, tendremos mucho gusto en servirlos. Para nosotros eran lejanos los nombres de Guadalajara, Cocula, Jalisco, Tecalitlan, Chapala, etc., y hoy los vemos a diario.

Ojala que tengan buena zafra por allá. Aquí comenzaremos a moler el día 27 de Dic. Dios mediente: 903,000 tons, metricas de caña, y terminaremos principios de Junio.

Saludos a todos mis amigos, muchas Felicidades, y que VIVA NUESTRA QUERIDA CUBA LIBRE.

You can't control rain clouds...

...so protect your thirsty crops with electrically-pumped irrigation

The trend is toward increased use of electrically-pumped irrigation because it helps make every acre a bigger profit-maker. Pays off in higher yields and improved quality. Ends drought worries. Aids in uniform germination of seed. Prevents fertilizer burn.

Costs less than ever before to operate... new 9.5 million dollar electric rate reduction, the ninth in nine years, will raise the total annual Sunshine Service customer savings to more than 38 million dollars.

New Year's Services At St. Peter's Lutheran

St. Peter's Lutheran Church will conduct special services over New Year's weekend that the people might receive forgiveness of past sins, and the strength to lead more godly lives in the new year. Holy Communion will be celebrated on New Year's Eve at 8:00 p. m. All desiring to commune are requested to first contact the Pastor. The theme of the New Year's Eve sermon is "The Lord, the Mighty Deliverer" Ps. 33:1-22. New Year's Day service will be conducted on Saturday morning at 10:00 A. M. with Sunday school beginning at 9:15 a. m. The sermon theme for January 2 is "This is the Son of God!" John 1:29-34. Epiphany Day service will be conducted on January 6th, at 8 p. m. The word "Epiphany" is from the Greek epiphaneia, meaning to manifest, or to show. The festival shows forth the glory of Him who has come, born a babe in Bethlehem, and how this glory must shine also through the members of His kingdom so that men may see their good works and glorify their Father in heaven. The theme for this service is "This is My Beloved Son." Matthew 3:13-17. St. Peter's Lutheran Church invited all, especially those who have no church home to join in these services as we end the old year and begin the new in the name of our Saviour, Jesus, the Christ.

Gen. Sweeney Buried Monday In Arlington

Gen. Walter C. Sweeney, Jr., who molded the Tactical Air Command into one of the leading commands of the Air Force in less than four years, passed away at the Homestead Air Force Base Hospital, Homestead, Fla., on Dec. 22.

He was a native of Wheeling, West Virginia and graduated from West Point Military Academy in 1930. He retired July 31, 1965 after 35 years of service with the U. S. Air Force. A veteran of command slots in Strategic Air Command, Gen. Sweeney took the top position for TAC at a time when the Langley based command was becoming one of the top organizations of the Air Force.

Gen. Sweeney was married in 1938 to Miss Minnie Belle (Widge) Murray at Ft. Myers, Fla. Since retirement they have made their home at 8750 Country Club Lane, West Miami, Fla. He was the son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Murray, Sr., of Belle Glade and had been visiting in their home here. His last visit here was in September when he was accompanied by his wife and son, Capt. Walter C. Sweeney, III, an Air Force Jet Fighter Pilot, Homestead Air Force Base. He also leaves one daughter, Mrs. James F. (Anne) Smith of Baltimore, Md.

Funeral services and interment were conducted Monday afternoon at the Arlington National Cemetery, Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Denison of Pittsburgh & Mrs. Mae Gillen of Coral Gables were guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Aspey on Monday and Tuesday. They enjoyed a tour of some of the sugar mills and also the packing houses in the area.

Fourth Book

"Cracker Historian" Lawrence E. Will, who has had an active and varied part in the area's development tells it this way:

"Right now, of course, as you well know, Lake Okeechobee is just as civilized as any other place. It's plumb hemmed in and surrounded by railroad tracks and highways too. Around its shores are towns and cities, motels, supermarkets, service stations and parking meters, just like any other place. Yet I'm telling you a stomped down fact, not much more than a short half century ago, when I first ventured to this lake, the on-lies people living here were just those catfish seers. Only them and a few hunters in the woods."

You'll want to read Mr. Will's exciting book "Okeechobee Catfishing," the fourth Cracker History of the Lake area, just released this week and on sale at local newstands.

New Bobcats Invested

Mr. and Mrs. Lavern Richey and baby son, Searey, Arkansas accompanied by his parents Mr. and Mrs. Dewitt Richey of Smithville, Arkansas visiting during the holidays with the Otho Richeys and the Eugene Richeys.

Mrs. Fisher had been Christmas shopping in West Palm Beach and was coming home on Sr. 80 and had just crossed Military Trail when a car in front of her, driven by Wanda J. Rogers, 16, of suburban West Palm Beach, pulled off the road and then turned back on the road as if to cross the highway, Florida Highway Patrol investigators said.

Mrs. Fisher jammed on her brakes lost control of her car, which travelled along the shoulder, then plunged down a steep embankment into the canal, stopping at the edge.
